

Dear Colleague,

The Pheochromocytoma Research Support Organization (PRESSOR) was founded in 2003 following an expert meeting at Cold Spring Harbor, USA. Meanwhile 3 International Symposia on research and treatment of pheochromocytomas and paragangliomas have been held, in Washington, Cambridge and Paris. The 4th International Symposium will be held in Kyoto, Japan, in 2014.

PRESSOR seeks to provide a platform where basic investigators and clinicians can display their new insights in these disorders, where they can get the latest information helping them plan their projects or their patient care, respectively, and to disseminate new information to health care professionals and patients. Also, PRESSOR seeks to provide a platform for joint projects, both basic research and clinical trials.

We kindly invite any interested researchers or clinicians to join forces with PRESSOR members to gain more knowledge about and find a treatment for these disorders. Please go to www.pressor.org to subscribe to PRESSOR at no cost. Welcome on board!

With kind regards,

The PRESSOR executive committee
